

Support a new generation of women at Michigan Tech

Joyce Caylor Lyth Memorial Endowed Scholarship

Legacy

The Joyce Caylor Lyth Memorial Endowed Scholarship is an opportunity for women studying in the School of Business and Economics at Michigan Technological University. The Scholarship was established through the generosity of Joyce '72 herself and continues to grow through the support of her husband, David '73, and numerous friends.

"These students are a lot like my wife was: small town, hard-working women determined to make an impact in the business world. I'm certain Joyce would be proud of this generation of female business leaders graduating from Michigan Tech."

-DAVID LYTH '73

Impact

Recipients of the Joyce Caylor Lyth Memorial Endowed Scholarship are leaders in and out of the classroom who embrace hard work and embody strong ethics. Students focus on their academics, gain confidence and skills in business, and receive support and mentoring from successful SBE alumnae.

Future

The Michigan Tech Office of Advancement seeks funding to grow and sustain this scholarship. Partner with us to cultivate the next generation of bright, motivated female business leaders. To create opportunities for women at Michigan Tech, call 906-487-3325 or visit mtu.edu/giving.

Invest in Female Business Students at Michigan Tech

"This scholarship motivated me to study harder and put even more time into my classes, knowing there are people expecting their investment to go toward producing strong business leaders."

-JAMIE SERTICH

Qualifications

- Female and resident of Michigan's Upper Peninsula
- In the School of Business and Economics (SBE), majoring in accounting (first preference), finance (second preference), or engineering management (third preference)
- 2.8 cumulative GPA
- Special consideration to students who may be ineligible for other financial aid because of GPA and level-of-need requirements, and who are first-generation college students

About Joyce Caylor Lyth '72 (1950-2014)

Born in the Upper Peninsula, Joyce studied accounting at Michigan Tech. She went on to become a chief accountant, controller, and entrepreneur. Supporting students was a priority for Joyce and her husband, alumnus David Lyth. Today David continues to support women pioneers in the business field.

Michigan
Technological University

