PROPOSAL 12-72

PERMISSION FOR DROPPING A COURSE

To grant a student greater freedom in control over his own class schedule, after the end of the period during which a student may add a course or change sections (six calendar days from the beginning of the quarter), the student need not be required to secure his advisor's permission to withdraw from a course. Exception may be made to this proposal where, as in laboratory courses, administrative and control problems over equipment and supplies may necessitate retention of the present requirement.

Proposal Adopted by Senate: 24 May 1972

Approved by President

Replaced by Proposal 4-86
